Gold Dust cleans everything

Don't mar your kettles and pans, or wear them out by such strenuous methods of cleaning as the use of knives, metal scrapers or iron dish rags.

Gold Dast affords an easier, a more natural way.

Just add a little Gold Dust to the water-let it soak in for a few moments—and the particles of food and grease clinging to the dish can be easily and quickly washed off.

Kettles last longer and retain their new appearance for a greater length of time when cleaned with Gold Dust.

FOR CUTS AND WOUNDS

The first thing to do is to thoroughly cleanse the part that has been hurt with warm water to which has been added a few drops of Sulpho-Napthol. It will stop the flow of blood, kill the pain, prevent ensuing inflammation and above all act as a safe-guard against infection.

CABOT'S SULPHO-NAPTHOL is a perfect germicide. It is the same "Liquid Cleanliness" that housewives pin their faith to in making everything clean and sweet around their homes, It is a medicine chest in itself.

Thursday night, Brown and John Donnelly, another inmate, while going from the chapel, where there had been an entertainment, eluded the keeper, and, sneaking into the dining room, broke a window and escaped. Donnelly is still at large.

Brown is a New London boy and made quite a record there as a firebug before going to Providence. In February of last year eighteen of the fires in that city were charged to young Brown, who is now about 20 years of age. He was arrested, arraigned in police court and committed to jail to await trial before the superior court. After being in jail a couple of months he was released by order of the states attorney and it was announced that Brown would reside hereafter in Canada. A confusion of names gave credit to James P. Geary instead of James P. O'Garra for rescuing the Ahearn boy from drowning in the Pawcatuck river last week. "Stiffy" as he is commonly called, is as a rule an industrious fellow, but occasional strays from the narrow path. In consequence there is at the present time a suspension of sentence against him in the Third district court. He did a herole act in saving the Ahearn boy from drowning and is entitled to all credit due.
